Autumn Newsletter 4

18th October 2018

I can't believe it is already half term! I think we are all ready for a chance to recharge our batteries before the busy Christmas half term!

All of our new children have settled in so well and enjoying their learning. Thank you for all your support this half term—we hope you enjoy the time with your children. Remember INSET tomorrow (teachers will be researching ways to enhance our curriculum) and Monday 29th (First Aid training for staff).

Communication

I urge you to read our newsletter which comes out fortnightly and regularly check our website for dates as this is the main form of communication between school and home. All dates and details are included in the newsletters and the website diary is updated regularly.

Consultation Evenings

It was great to see so many parents and carers at this week's meetings and to hear such positive feedback. We, and certainly the children, value your support as their education is all the better when we work in partnership.

A note for next time—due to time restrictions for the teachers, we will only be able to offer one appointment per child. Thank you for your understanding.

Uniform

A reminder that after half term, all children must wear their 'winter' uniform of shirt and tie—no polo shirts until the summer. The children look so smart in their uniform and it helps identify them as members of our school community, something we are all proud of.

Please ensure hair bands are plain and the shortest cut is grade 2.

The Harvest parcels were received with much appreciation, so thank you for your donations.

Have a great half term—don't forget to change your clocks next weekend!
